MADISON MAY BE GOVERNED BY THE STATE

Novel Plan Passes The Assembly By A Vote
Of Sixty-Seven To Six This Morning.

UP TO THE GOVERNOR TO SIGN LAW

Would Make Wisconsin State Capital Similar To National Home At Washington, D. C.—Other Work
Of The Legislature.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, May 18.—It is now up to the governor to sign the special joint resolution passed by both the senate and the assembly to have special care for the city of Madison as Washington is governed by congress.
The resolution was adopted by the assembly this morning by a vote of sixty-seven to six, after a prolonged debate upon the benefits to be derived from the change for Madison and the state at large.
Up to Davidson.
This action places the measure up to Governor Davidson to sign it so that it becomes a law, or veto it. From the looks of the heavy vote in its favor it would probably be passed over his veto should he decide to veto it.
To Be Legalized.
Holding exhibitions will be legalized in the state of Wisconsin if the senate concurs in the action of the assembly this morning on the Brown bill which was passed by a vote of forty to thirty-four and sent to the senate.
Purely Political.
Assemblyman Clary this morning introduced a resolution denouncing the senatorial election probe as unfair and for political purposes only and calling upon the assembly to refuse to obey a subpoena of the probe committee. The resolution was made a special order for business tonight.
Would Resign.
The state prison binding twice plant appropriation bill caused a sensation in the senate today. Chairman Randall of the appropriations committee declared he would resign if the resolution by Senator Thomas was adopted, calling the binding twice bill from the committee.
Call of House.
The senate seemed disposed to adopt the resolution and Randall tied the whole situation up by moving a call of the house. So the senate doors were locked and messengers scurried after the absentees.

CHARLOTTE AWAITS PRESIDENT'S COMING

North Carolina Town Is Making Big Preparations For Visit Of Taft
On Anniversary Day.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Charlotte, N. C., May 18.—The finishing touches to the preparations for the visit of President Taft and the celebration of the anniversary of the signing of the Mecklenburg declaration of independence, which the President will attend Thursday, were completed today. The entire city is in gala dress. Hundreds of flags and countless yards of bunting have been used in the decoration of the buildings facing Independence Square and along Tryon, Trade and other of the principal streets. Three magnificent arches, made brilliant at night by hundreds of colored electric lights, form a sort of court of honor, which is the central feature of the decorative scheme.

The three day celebration program was formally ushered in this morning with a salute of artillery. The day was devoted to drills by drum corps, companies of firemen and militia, with a series of concerts arranged for this evening.

Tomorrow there will be a monster athletic meet at the fair grounds, together with a program of literary exercises in which addresses will be delivered by Governor Kitchin of North Carolina and the official representatives of other states. Later in the day there will be exhibition drills and maneuvers by the United States cavalry.

Thursday, the third and last day of the celebration, has been designated as "President's Day." The President and Mrs. Taft will reach the city from Petersburg at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. Veterans of the Blue and the Gray will escort the distinguished visitors to the Hotel Solway, where they will be officially welcomed by Governor Kitchin, Senators Simpson and Overman and the Mayor of Charlotte. At noon the President will review the parade from a stand erected in front of the court-house and later he is expected to deliver a public address.

Charlotte expects to entertain a record-breaking crowd of visitors during the next two days. Several thousand strangers are guests of the city already and every arriving train is crowded to its utmost capacity.

MAKE STATEMENTS RELATIVE TO FUND

State Treasurer Tells What Is Being Done to Collect the Money From Insurance Companies.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 18.—State Treasurer A. H. Dahl sent a letter to the senate this morning in response to the resolution passed last week as to how he could account for approximately $35,934.98 alleged to be due the state from fifteen withdrawing life insurance companies, saying that the attorney general is now maintaining actions to affect the collection.

Mr. Dahl points out that the statement of amounts due by the companies must be based upon signed statements furnished by the companies. Three companies have filed statements and paid taxes as follows:
Michigan Mutual ..... $1,055.36
National Life ..... 1.84
National Life of Vt. .... 3,543.75

The treasurer then names ten other companies that have withdrawn from the state and filed statements, but have refused to pay taxes. Then Mr. Dahl gives a list of the companies which have filed no statements with the commissioner of insurance: Columbian National, Federal Life, Manhattan Life, Massachusetts Mutual, Minnesota Mutual, Mutual Life, Penn Mutual, Phoenix Mutual, Security Life of America, Security Mutual Life.

The letter to the state senate says that the attorney general is now maintaining an action against the Columbian National Life Insurance company, one of the withdrawing companies, to compel it to file its statement. The case is now pending before the supreme court on an appeal.

"The attorney general has advised that questions are involved in the pending action which will affect actions for the collection of any taxes or fees claimed to be due from the withdrawing companies and that no further action be brought pending the final decision of the above mentioned case," says the letter. "The resolution adopted by your honorable body requires that certain specific amounts are due this state from companies from which no report has been received by the commissioner of insurance. While the resolution recites that the amounts are approximately, the same are given in dollars and cents, indicating a possible source of knowledge not available to officers of the state, I respectfully suggest that such information, if available, should be placed at the disposal of such officers."

Pritchett the Carnegie foundation is becoming one of the greatest influences of the world for the advancement of learning. Few universities are financially able to pension aged professors or pay salaries to members of faculty and maintain them at the university for the purpose of devoting themselves to research work and not be confined to teaching.

AIM AT ITS BEING LOST

Strong Lobby of University Is Hard

Defeated When It Comes

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., May 18.—One of the most earnest controversies of the latter days of the legislative session will be over the Wehrwein bill, No. 720a, which proposes to remove from the university authorities the determination of the qualifications of applicants for admission to that institution and place it in the hands of the state superintendent. The bill is now being considered by the senate committee on education and may come back to the senate the latter part of this week.

A point which seems to be appealing strongly to the members of the senate committee on education and which was apparently overlooked in the assembly consideration, of the measure is the fact that the enactment of such a law would render it impossible for the University of Wisconsin to participate in the many benefits of the $15,000,000 Carnegie foundation for the improvement of teaching. Among these benefits is the enabling of professors of ripe age and many years of experience to devote themselves to research work and not be confined to teaching.

THREAT OF WAR ON MONTEREY HEIGHTS

Zastoupels Have Bottled Up William Kinney by Converting South Chatham Street into a

South Chatham street, which used to be South Emmett street, becomes a kind of lane or cul-de-sac ending in a sand hill just below Western avenue and the family of Joseph Zastoupel, who own the lots on either side of the entrance thereto, have closed up the thoroughfare with a fence of wire netting and converted the ground into a lovely goose-pen. This is very pleasant for the geese but not so much so for William Kinney, watchman at the woolen mills, to whom the road offered the only convenient entrance and exit. He and his family now have the alternative of climbing wavy wire fences or tunneling under the railroad tracks which are brought to the viaduct at a considerable elevation, just in the rear of their back yard. City Attorney Maxfield authorized Chief Appleby yesterday to notify Zastoupels, et al, to take down the fence or lay themselves upon to arrest. However, pending an investigation into the merits of the case, which could not be made today owing to pressure of other business, the goose-pen is still intact. But active hostilities which may sweep down the barriers in the earth, are likely to be opened at any moment.

The corpse was that of an infant thirty-six to forty-eight hours old and was wrapped in a portion of a woman's skirt and a newspaper. How long it had been dead is not known, but it is now thought that perhaps it has lain there for a week past.

The body was discovered by Mrs. House, who conducts a restaurant on Main street and has rooms to rent over the front of the laundry building in the second story. She was cleaning the rooms and noticed a peculiar smell and then investigated the package lying just outside the window on the roof of the boiler-room.

Reynold seeing it was the body of a child, the package was not opened and it was turned over to City Marshal Walsh, who at once notified District Attorney Fisher of the find. Mr. Fisher came to Edgerton this afternoon and will thoroughly investigate the affair.

One of the former roomers in the house apartments says the package was seen on the roof a week ago and this is the only trace they have of the length of time it has lain there. The body is at Clark's undertaking rooms.

Preached with a Broken Leg.

During the recent severe weather in England Rev. Thomas McClelland, one of the organizing secretaries of the Church Missionary Society, fell at Oulford while descending a hill on his way to preach at St. Saviour's church. He managed to crawl to the church, though considerably shaken, and rested in the vestry until the time came to preach, when he succeeded in reaching the pulpit, and gave an able and impressive sermon. When the service was over Mr. McClelland collapsed, and was carried to the house of friends. It was found that his leg was broken just above the ankle. After having the limb set, he rested a few days, and was then conveyed to his home.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THE traditional incompatibility that exists between women and secrets is one of the chief things that stand between the sex and complete business success.

Of course there are women like Miss Kate Harrison, the much trusted secretary of H. H. Rogers, the Standard oil magnate, who can keep secrets, but they are undeniably rarities.

Many women when they promise to keep a secret have no intention whatsoever of breaking their word. They do it without realizing. They are hardly more to be blamed than a slave is for letting water pass through it. The blame, one might almost say, belongs to the person who tries to make the slave hold water.

A type of secret-telling woman even commoner than the slave is the one who says, "I promised I wouldn't tell but I'll just tell you for I know you won't tell anyone."

Of course the confidante confides the secret to some other "just you" with the same explanation and gradually it travels down an endless chain of "just you's," ever accompanied with the inevitable explanation, until it has completely justified the old joke about the three quickest ways to spread news:

Telephone, telegraph and tell a woman.

Then there are the women who do not tell secrets, but who also do not know how to keep them.

Keeping a secret means more than not telling it. It means keeping it, guarding it, protecting it.

The passage where Hamlet is making his friends promise to keep a secret for him seems to me one of the best examples of Shakespeare's wonderful knowledge of human nature.

Hamlet is not content to make them promise not to tell his secret, but they must also promise not to let it out.

"By pronouncing of some doubtful phrase, As 'Well, well, we know,' or 'We could an if we would,' Or 'If we list to speak,' or 'There be an if they might,' Or such ambiguous giving out."

If you are telling a very important secret it wouldn't be so bad a thing to get your confidante to take Hamlet's oath.

But there is one better way to be sure of its safety and that is not to tell it at all.

If the suffragettes would distribute literature teaching women how to keep secrets they would be doing much for the business standing of their sex and maybe bringing it nearer the polls.

FORMER EVANSVILLE MAN DIES IN IOWA

Charles Gould of Mechanicsville Passes Away—Remains Brought to Old Home Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Evansville, May 17.—Mrs. William Stevens just received word of the death of her brother-in-law, Charles Gould of Mechanicsville, Iowa, which occurred at his home at 2:30 o'clock this morning. The body will arrive in this city tomorrow evening for interment in Maple Hill cemetery. Mr. Gould was about 50 years old and was well known and highly respected in Evansville, having been a druggist in this city about thirty years ago.

During the severe electrical storm Friday night the residence of Ezra Griffith on East Main street was struck by lightning and notwithstanding the heavy rain that was falling the building would probably have been consumed in flames had it not been discovered at once and quickly extinguished by neighbors. As it was the damage to the house was slight but as a result of the fire, Mr. Gould lost one of his horses. He lived near the corner of the fire and ran his horse to the city hall for the horse cart and the animal died soon after reaching the barn. The horse was one of the big gray team used on the street sprinkler, and it is supposed to have died of heart failure caused by over-exertion.

On Thursday and Friday, May 27 and 28, Evansville people will be given a rare treat in the musical line, for at that time will occur the May festival of the choral union. The entertainments will be given at Maggie's opera-house. On Thursday evening there will be a concert by out-of-town talent, on Friday afternoon a piano recital by the pupils of Miss Anna L. Boyce, instructor of the choral union, and director of the choral union, and on Friday evening the choral union will give "The Rose Maiden." The concert will undoubtedly be very fine and it is expected that music-lovers from Janesville, Madison, Brooklyn, Oregon and other places will be here to attend.

FATHER AND SON SLAIN.

Fatal Fight Follows Quarrel Over Fence in Indiana.

Richmond, Ind., May 18.—A controversy over a line fence between two farms resulted in the death of Alexander Meek and Raymond Meek, father and son, and the serious injury of Frank Rallsback, Sr., and his son, Frank Rallsback, Jr.

The Meeks, father and son, left the house, going to the point of fence where the Rallsbacks were at work. The father had a revolver and the son a shotgun. Both fired on the Rallsback men and Frank Rallsback, Jr., fell with a wound in his knee. The older Rallsback was wounded in the abdomen by a shot from one barrel of the younger Meek's gun.

The Rallsbacks retreated, and Joel Rallsback, another son, went to the house and returned with a double-barreled shotgun, fired point blank at the Meeks, killing both, shooting each of them in the head.

Louise Arbogast Charged with Murder of Parent in St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., May 18.—Louise Arbogast, aged 22, was formally charged in police court with the murder of Louise Arbogast, her father. The girl, who is a handsome brunette and well known among a large number of German residents of St. Paul, was committed to the county jail and her hearing was not for Thursday. It is believed the girl's defense will be insanity and that this defense will prevail, as her demeanor for some time past indicated that she was suffering from delusions.

Louise Arbogast, a wealthy meat dealer and a prominent German resident, was found dead in his bed early last Thursday morning. His head had been crushed in with an ax and the bed was soaked with kerosene oil and on fire.

THE DRIFT TOWARD SOCIALISM

The era of reform through which the nation is passing has developed some strange theories and while some of these hallucinations, like government ownership of public utilities have already been exploded, others are still popular. Among the latter, and the one just now attracting the attention of congress, is the income tax, which plainly stated in cold type is simply another name for confiscating other people's property. This is legalized socialism, and it is difficult to understand how the people's representatives became infatuated with the notion. The Cincinnati Enquirer in commenting says very truthfully:

"Such doctrines may find favor in lands where injustice, discrimination, hardship, and evil are placed upon the lowly by the powerful and the wealthy. Such doctrines may be exemplified by a British budget, or by a Russian bomb, or by a socialist revolution against an empire or by a warning sent or a strike used by the Black Hand, but they have neither right nor cause nor place in the halls of congress nor in the territory of the American republic. What can statesmen or Americans be dreaming of when they propose direct class legislation and the placing of the burdens of the entire country upon a limited number of their fellow citizens?"

"To confiscate by legislation is to destroy. To rob by taxation is as criminal as the acts of the road agents. To pilfer, penalize and plunder any class of our people for the benefit of others is an imported doctrine, foreign to American institutions, adverse to our liberties and rights, destructive to the theory of our government, and will never be accepted by fair-minded people, be they rich or poor.

"Justice is the keynote of our national progress, and it knows no sects or classes, no distinctions of wealth or poverty, has no citizen to oppress to punish, whether he reside east or west, north or south, so long as he obeys the law of the land. The prosperity of the west and the south calls for no such unfair, unrighteous, unrepentant scheme. The advocates of this socialistic and unconstitutional measure mistake their people, misunderstand their country and deceive themselves. It is not popular. It is plain appropriation of the property of others.

"If it should ever be held constitutional to collect income tax from those who receive $10,000 per year, it will be constitutional to collect from the men who earn $1,000 per annum, from those who earn $500 per annum, from the laborer who earns $200 per annum, and the federal tax collectors would multiply like the plague of Egypt and infect the homes of the most worthy citizens. While we were aware that communistic and socialistic phrases and ideas were sometimes used by ambitious statesmen for effect upon the populace, we were not prepared to read in the reports of senatorial debate a proposition to tax the surplus earning capacity of all our citizens for the support of the federal government. It starts with the proposition to penalize the rich, it ends with the plunder of rich and poor alike."

JAMES J. HILL OPTIMISTIC
James J. Hill of the Great Northern was interviewed in Washington the other day. "You know," he said, "that thousands of people turn their eyes toward Washington. Some of them think that legislation will cure the toothache, set a broken limb or make crops. Agriculture here keeps these people in suspense, makes them forget their business. What we want is to have the tariff agitation over and let these thousands of people turn their attention to business and work, adding the great wheels of progress in turn. Then things will begin to hum. Yes, the outlook is good in all directions."

"The stock and bond business in New York seems to be disconcerting the possibilities, does it not?" "Oh, that is all made in New York. The millions of people of the country are not bothering with stocks or bonds. What we must look to now is our crops. The Great Northern runs through a section that supplies one-sixth of the wheat of the United States. The wheat outlook is good. I do not think there will be a big crop. It promises to be a fair one, however. The trouble is that the acreage is not a large one. Heavy snows that lasted into the spring prevented plowing, the ground being too wet. After the ground was ready to plow many farmers put in oats and barley. The plowing should have been done last fall.

"The west and the south will be the great sections of this country in the future. The west is now, and the south is coming forward by leaps and bounds. The south has a great future."

THAT LONESOME FEELING

It may be that the skies are just as blue as once they were, The fields perhaps are just as green, at least I'll so infer; And life perhaps may mean as much to all of us, but still It doesn't seem the same, and I'm afraid it never will; The days are dull and dreary and we're in a rut to stay; There isn't any spice in life since Teddy went away.

—Detroit Free Press.

That the dawn of a new era of prosperity is at hand is evidenced by activity in the railway world. The Pullman company is spending $3,000,000 on new factory buildings, and will increase its working force to 12,000 men. The Pennsylvania company has entered with a 20-year contract for steel passenger cars, and the Pullman people are now at work on the first consignment of 300 cars. Idle cars are rapidly finding employment and when the crops are ready to move old-time activity will be restored.

The winter wheat crop is a partial failure but the increased acreage of spring wheat promises to make good the shortage. The value of the corn crop last year was more than double the value of wheat produced and corn continues to be king. The outlook for the crops of 1909 is encouraging, and another year of agricultural prosperity is assured.

The National Grange, with a membership of one million intelligent farmers, is intensely interested in the good roads movement and every effort is being exhausted to encourage it. This is the kind of support that will accomplish results, for the farmer is on the ground and directly interested. Wisconsin should get in line and help the work along.

A force of canvassers from a building powder company have just completed their work in Janesville. They report 3,300 families and place the population at 17,500. A similar canvass of Detroit showed 2,500 families and some 200 vacant houses.

Every automobile factory in the country is flooded with orders, and quick delivery is out of the question. There seems to be plenty of money in spite of hard times, and it is being freely spent for a class of work which gives employment to thousands of workmen. The automobile has come to stay.

Uncle Walt of Emporia

By WALT MASON
(Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

When old-time knights went forth with poles, and pushed each other off their horses, the ground, we learn, from ancient records, was often littered up with corpses; for when a man is weighted down with half a ton of old-time armor, and falls, and lands upon his crown, his life is apt to be the payment. I've read of forty armored knights who perished in a morning's tilting of such the ancient serf's wives (of such the birds were always wild). O, there was clanging of bolt and casting, and you might see the charger reel, and hear the rider fortune blast, and when the vanquished hero sank, so plainly dead that none could doubt it, a dry would gather up the junk, and nothing more was said about it. O, good old days, when fighters fought, and in the tourney played their cups! They seemed to fill with bally rot the columns of the sporting papers.

RAZORS FLASH IN BLOODLESS WAR

USED IN TARIFF BATTLE, NOT AS WEAPONS, BUT AS EXHIBITS.

GREAT PROFITS ON BLADES

Cost $4.70 a Dozen and Sell for $30, According to Senator Smoot—Cannon's Rule Stops an Attack on the South.

Washington, May 18.—Another razor battle—bloodless it is true—has been fought on the floor of the United States senate. It was a good-natured battle and although several glittering blades were flashed by senators, they were used not as weapons but as arguments for and against an increase from 55 to 100 per cent. in the duty. Amendments had been offered by Mr. Simmons reducing the rates. Senator Stone then offered amendments reducing the duties on razors to the rates of the Dingley bill. Senator Smoot, in opposing these amendments said if the duty were 200 per cent. it would not increase the price to the consumer. He held up before the senate a razor which he said cost to import 40 cents and which was sold for $3.

Tells of Great Profit.
"Have those razors which you have there been sold for $3 each?" Inquired Mr. Stone.

"There is no question that the dealer will sell them for that price," replied Mr. Smoot.

"Not after the senator's statement here," said Mr. Aldrich, laughing.

"I hope that is correct," replied Mr. Smoot, "because the profit they obtain is enormous."

Mr. Smoot exhibited another razor case, supposed to contain a razor of German make. It was from Germany and sold at retail in this country at $2.50 while it cost to import $4.70 a dozen.

Mr. Aldrich said the most striking thing to him about the razor industry was that a large part of the razors imported cost to import wholesale ten cents each or $1.20 a dozen.

Just before the senate adjourned, Mr. Smoot, in response to a question by Mr. Stone, moved over to the Democratic side of the chamber at the same time taking a razor from his pocket and deliberately opening it. He walked up to Senator Stone and then whirled the razor in his hand as he explained how the name of the foreign manufacturer was obliterated from the blade.

Stone is "intimidated." Senator Carter suggested that the senator from Missouri had been intimidated by the razor in the hands of the senator from Utah and the senator from Utah returning to his seat carefully replaced his razor in its case.

During an extended discussion of the entire industry by Mr. La Follette the senate went into executive session. A comprehensive discussion of the income tax by Senator Sutherland of Utah and an extended speech by Senator Dewey in support of the pending tariff bill consumed most of the session of the senate. Mr. Sutherland argued against the constitutionality of a federal income tax law and declared that such a tax should be left as a means of revenue for the states.

Senator Owen today announced his intention of voting for a tariff on crude petroleum unless "advised to the contrary in an authoritative way."

The statement was made in response to "hundreds of telegrams from oil producers in Oklahoma."

Cannon Stops Hollingsworth. A ruling by Speaker Cannon prevented, perhaps the reopening in the house of old wounds of the civil war. Mr. Hollingsworth of Ohio sought to justify as a matter of privilege, his recent resolution objecting to the placing of the portrait of Jefferson Davis on the silver service to be presented to the battleship Mississippi because of editorials in certain southern newspapers hurling all sorts of epithets at him. The editorials were read.

The speaker declared that as the editorials did not attack Mr. Hollingsworth in his representative capacity he could not continue. The result of Mr. Hollingsworth's attempt was to get into the Congressional Record a number of uncomplimentary remarks about himself and with nothing to offset them. As the editorials were read in turn the house was convulsed with laughter.

Although his consideration was completed, the Philippine tariff bill was not finally acted upon for the want of a quorum.

Ask Taft to Reset Clock. Washington, May 18.—President Taft took up with his cabinet today the international question of more daylight. A delegation from Cincinnati, representing the National Daylight association, called upon the president and requested him to take the initiative in the reform movement directed against the clock.

Mowing Lawn Kills Coroner. Kewanee, Ill., May 18.—After over-exertion in mowing his lawn, Henry C. Morton, coroner of Henry county, one of the wealthiest men in western Illinois, died suddenly at his home in Galva. He was 68 years old.

Law Aimed at Black Hand. Albany, N. Y., May 18.—Gov. Hughes signed a law increasing the penalty for extortion or blackmail from five to fifteen years. The measure is aimed at the Black Hand and similar organizations.

KEEPING WARM INSIDE.

It was a freezing wind that lashed itself against the federal building in Chicago and pried its way through the double plate glass windows.

The judge on the bench was Judge Kenesaw Landis.

The prisoner at the bar, charged as a "white slave," was Matthew Aronson.

When Aronson was called up for sentence on a plea of guilty he was a sorry sight. His lips were still blue from the cold of the jail corridors, whenever he was brought. His tattered trousers dapped about a pair of badly worn shoes, and his hands were red with frost.

"Have you anything to say before sentence should be passed on you?" Aronson with trembling lip told a hard luck story about being discharged as a traveling man in Winnebago because he was too old. There he met a woman who proposed they should go to Chicago together to find work.

When the couple arrived in Chicago Aronson failed to secure employment. He said he had pawned his watch and overcoat, and in order to keep from starving he accepted money from the woman.

"I believe your story," said the court, "and will impose the minimum sentence—sixty days in the house of correction."

As the deputy marshal was about to lead Aronson back to the jail Judge Landis suddenly asked:

"Aronson, where is your overcoat?" "Your honor, I pawned it when I first came to the city."

"Well," said the judge, "GET MINE AND GIVE IT TO HIM."

"And now, gentlemen," said the court to the lawyers, "let us go on with the next case."

The afternoon of that day when Judge Landis adjourned his court he boarded the street car without an overcoat. And when some one asked where his overcoat was Landis answered—

"I USED IT TO LIGHT A FIRE TO KEEP WARM INSIDE OF ME THE SPIRIT OF CHARITY THAT LIFE IN A BIG CITY TENDS TO FREEZE."

PREVENTION OF CONTAGION.

We should be as willing at all times to do as much to protect our neighbor's children as we would demand that our neighbors do to protect ours.

The all important thing to do in preventing the spread of contagion in a community is to see to it that sick children are not allowed to mingle with children that are well. This means the exclusion of sick or ailing children from the schools and churches and that they must not be permitted to mingle with other children until the department of health says it is safe for them to do so.

HERE LOOKING FOR HIS WANDERING BOY

H. C. Edwards of Gray's Lake Has Thus Far Made Fruitless Search for Son-Who Left Home May 10.

H. C. Edwards, whose 200-acre farm is located two miles from Gray's Lake, Ill., is here looking for his son, John Edwards, age 21, who abandoned his task of ploughing the cornfield about day morning, May 10, and without calling at the house to change his raiment of visiting the bank at Gray's Lake where he had a $300 balance, and started out to see the world. On the following day the young man mailed a postal from Janesville simply stating that he was looking for a job, and a reply sent by his sister was called for at the local postoffice. Since that time all definite trace of him has been lost, though the management of Gray's Tobacco company, after examining the photograph which Mr. Edwards brought with him, expressed a belief that the same party, in company with another man, called at their warehouse yesterday in search of employment.

Edwards is five feet, six inches in height and weighs about 130 pounds. He has brown hair and is smooth-shaven, with an alert expression and unusually agreeable countenance. His father says that he never been absent from home overnight in his life. The father has no intention of trying to force him to go back on the farm but merely wishes to find out where he is in order to allay his own anxiety and that of the mother. "We will send him his clothes if he wants to stay away," said Mr. Edwards at the police station this morning.

William Hoak, who is a telegraph operator at Darion, was formerly a neighbor and associate of the missing man and Edwards was supposed to have headed for Janesville because of the fact that Hoak's mother, Mrs. Mary A. Carter, lives with Mrs. Ryan at 417 Main street, this city. However, Mr. Hoak of Darion has not seen him and Mrs. Carter had gone to visit with a friend on a farm twelve miles away and could not be located. The elder Edwards is a member of the board of supervisors of Lake County, has served several times as assessor, and is a very interesting talker. In discussing a variety of topics he said, among other things, that his county is controlled by a corrupt ring which he recently forced to uncover over $5,000 stolen from the license tribute; that with a population of 1,000 the county supports six saloons and seven blind pigs, the saloons paying $700 license fees and taking in as much as $12,000 each per annum; and that the old Waukesha to the World's fair six-inch pipe line which ran across his farm and was built at a cost of $2,000,000, was finally torn up and sold for $50,000.

We desire to thank the many friends for their kindly sympathy during the illness and death of our son and brother. Also for the assistance rendered at the funeral and the beautiful flowers sent.

MICHAEL GOODMAN & SONS.

VERY ATTRACTIVE.

Ladies are delighted with the easy needlework at Hotel Myers. The new colorings for valises and braiding designs which figure so extensively in this season's frocks; effective table covers and towels so charming for porch work this summer; everything which goes to delight a woman's love for the beautiful can be found in this display. As Miss Harwick limits her designs to two of a kind, the loveliest ones will soon be gone.

MATRIMONIAL.

Wiberg-Sandberg.
This morning Judge Lange united in marriage Elma Wiberg and Claus Sandberg, both of Rockford, Illinois. W. H. Dougherty and W. E. Dulin acted as witnesses.

W. A. JOHNSON, Agt.

Human.

The young man, leading a dog by a string, lounged up to the ticket office of a railway station and inquired: "Must I—take a ticket for a puppy?" "No; you can travel as an ordinary passenger," was the reply.

UNION HOUSE BAR WAS CLOSED TODAY

Pending Completion of Certiorari Proceeding—Threat of Arrest Did the Work.

Chief of Police Appleby yesterday afternoon closed on Mrs. Margaret Walrath, landlady of the Union House, and her attorney, J. J. Cunningham, notice in the effect that Judge Grinn had sustained City Attorney Maxfield's demurrer to the plaintiff's complaint in the action brought by Mrs. Walrath to prevent the execution of the common council's order vacating her saloon license. Attorney Cunningham was of the opinion that the temporary injunction granted by Court Commissioner Carpenter was still in force and that the Union House could continue to retail liquor until it was dissolved. Attorney Maxfield had not at that time fully decided upon his next move and the bar was kept open. Simultaneously, Mr. Malone is alleged to have informed advertising customers that he was open by authority of Attorney Cunningham and the Chief of Police. When this absurd report, which is quite on a par with a lot of other malicious falsehoods of the kind that is being persistently put in circulation by people who are deliberately seeking to injure him, reached the Chief's ears, he got into quick communication with Malone. The latter did not deny that he had said something of the kind and explained that he was prompted to do so by the fact that the Chief was present when Attorney Cunningham delivered his opinion. Mr. Malone then and thereupon heard some things to his advantage, and the advantage of others who engage in that sort of misrepresentation. This afternoon City Attorney Maxfield let it be understood that he was about to take steps to have the Union House people placed under arrest. To avoid complications which might unpleasantly, in the long run, Attorney Cunningham advised his client to close up until the certiorari proceeding should be completed, the City Attorney agreeing to take this up as soon as possible. All of which is quite in line with Judge Grinn's decision. The last drink was sold at 1:30 p. m., though the barroom was not closed and the piano was playing some time afterward.

STOUGHTON'S SWEET IS AGAIN AT LARGE

Wan Who Tried to Commit Suicide Here Last January Was in Court Again Today—Several Up for Drunkeness.

John Sweet, who was committed to Mendota last January after he had failed to succeed in ending his life with carbolic acid at the Railroad hotel, pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkenness in municipal court this morning and was given his liberty on the promise to get out of town forthwith and never venture into Janesville again. Sweet's wife, it will be remembered, deserted him at Stoughton and he came here in the hope of inducing her by threats or entreaties to go back. The woman would have nothing to do with him and he hung about the place where she was stopping until the police drove him away. Gus Schelling and George Lyons were unable to pay fines and costs of $4.10 and went to jail for seven days each. Mike Riley was committed to the hospital for four days. Fully Ryan and W. G. Woodruff were sentenced to pay $4.10 with the alternative of seven days' confinement, but the commitments were withheld subject to certain conditions.

Holland's Way.

In Holland there are few able-bodied paupers. There is a tract of public land containing 5,000 acres, which is divided into six model farms, and to one of these is sent the poor person applying for public relief. If he voluntarily serves until he learns agriculture he is allowed to rent a small farm for himself and he what is called a free farmer. Every pauper who is thus reclaimed to honest regular industry is so much gain to the state.
There is also a forced labor colony, where beggars and vagrants are sent
and made to do farm and other work, whether they like it or not.

Dalny is a Scene of Ever Changing Wonders to the Eye of the Visitors.
C. V. Hubbard, who is much interested in the work of the Y. M. C. A. in Japan and Manchuria, has prepared a series of articles for The Gazette on the work in the far east. It will be remembered that there is a project on foot at the present time to establish a Y. M. C. A. building in Dalny and at a recent dinner given in honor of Mr.

Hubbard at the hotel Myers considerable money was raised with this in view. Mr. Hubbard writes that there are ten thousand of the twenty-two

DALNY—A PART OF THE RUSSIAN CITY.

thousand dollars needed has been acquired. Under the caption "Dalny—A Dream Comes True," Mr. Hubbard writes:

As your ship clears the entrance to
the harbor a great bay, literally miles
in extent, opens before you. On the right a ridge of sharply serrated
rocky hills cuts the horizon; on the
left, the hills are less rugged and a
long plain sweeps from their base
down to the water's edge at the south side of the bay. Here and there scattered buildings stand in strong relief
against the sunlit yellow plain.
Clouds of dust mark streams of
traffic diverging from the wharves
and as the steamer edges into place
beside the great concrete docks a bab-
ble of shouts, the creaking of great
derbies, and the shrieks of a locomotive strike rudely on ears accustomed
to the silence of the sea. A strong
and unusual odor sweeps up from the
freight sheds and the long trains waiting on the wharves. Its source is the great stacks of bean cake and thousands of bushels of beans awaiting shipment, for the bay is the greatest of Manchurian crops.
A narrow view enables you to coordinate the scattered buildings into
the elaborate plan of a great city.
Streets running out from the center
weave a spider's web with other
streets cutting them at right angles.
Truly Utopia dreamed magnificently
when he dreamed these streets
through the millet fields and laid the
foundations of office buildings, schools,
theaters, and churches literally miles
apart; while at one side he built a miniature modern city of the West, the
earliest of the great city that was to be.
Today the Russians are gone. The Japanese have entered into their harbors and in the stores, in the streets
and where the open spaces along the
magnificent thoroughfares are rapidly
closing up we find only the people of the East but this is Dalny. Not the Russian Dalny of White's dream of empire, but a new Dalny, renamed by the Japanese, Dairen.

Here, on a natural harbor larger than San Francisco bay, and opening on warm seas, in the latitude of New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago and Denver,
is the base through which Japan proposes to work out her policy of colonial and trade expansion in Manchuria.
Twenty-five miles northeast of the tural communities that are springing up along the railway.

Already her broad avenues, railroad yards, concrete wharves, cement works, brick factories and bean oil refineries hum with life which throbs responsive to the trade pulses of the world. The exercise of no prophetic

West meeting shall evolve a powerful,
composite civilization.

thousand dollars needed has been acquired. Under the caption "Dalny—A Dream Comes True," Mr. Hubbard writes:

As your ship clears the entrance to
the harbor a great bay, literally miles
in extent, opens before you. On the
right a ridge of sharply serrated
left, the hills are less rugged and a
long plain sweeps from their base
down to the water's edge at the south
side of the bay. Here and there scattered buildings stand in strong relief
against the sunlit yellow plain.
Clouds of dust mark streams of
traffic diverging from the wharves
and as the steamer edges into place
beside the great concrete docks a bab-
ble of shouts, the creaking of great
derbies, and the shrieks of a locomotive strike rudely on ears accustomed
to the silence of the sea. A strong
and unusual odor sweeps up from the
freight sheds and the long trains waiting on the wharves. Its source is the
great stacks of bean cake and thousands of bushels of beans awaiting
shipment, for the bay is the
greatest of Manchurian crops.
A narrow view enables you to co-
ordinate the scattered buildings into
the elaborate plan of a great city.
Streets running out from the center
weave a spider's web with other
streets cutting them at right angles.
Truly Utopia dreamed magnificently
when he dreamed these streets
through the millet fields and laid the
foundations of office buildings, schools,
theaters, and churches literally miles
apart; while at one side he built a
miniature modern city of the West, the
earliest of the great city that was to be.
Today the Russians are gone. The Japanese have entered into their har-
bors and in the stores, in the streets
and where the open spaces along the
magnificent thoroughfares are rapidly
closing up we find only the people of

CLINTON ITEMS OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Clinton, May 17—Miss Alva Parks, triumph for Mrs. Scott, spent Sunday in Delavan at her home.
Ex-Mayor Charles Gault was in town Saturday. He is moving the remains of his father, who has been buried in the Clinton cemetery for many years, to Beloit, to be re-interred beside his mother, who died and was buried there a few weeks ago.
Mrs. A. A. Clapper has been very sick for almost three weeks with grippe and gathering in her head.
A gentleman from Indiana was here Friday in consultation with the water and gas committee of the village board relative to installing an air lift system of pumping the water in the city well. It is absolutely necessary to improve our water works system in some manner. A great many favor the putting down of another larger well.
Two of our young men, Friday night, while under the influence of liquor, threw a large stone through the center of the north window in the north rooms of Solkirk's harness store. Realizing their plight and that they were in danger of arrest and a stiff fine, they took a night train for parts unknown.

of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Snyder, who lives one and a half miles west of town on the Milwaukee road, met with a very painful accident late Friday evening in playing around the pump. The windmill started to work, catching the index finger on his right hand, smashing it severely and breaking the bone, making a very painful wound.

leged to have deserted Babe, Must Answer to Abandonment Charge.
After a pursuit covering nearly a thousand miles, Elizabeth Roethlis-berger has been taken from Racine to Milwaukee, by Detective John Jamieson, in answer to a charge of abandonment. Under the name of Mrs. Decker she is alleged to have left her infant daughter, Marie, in the home of Mrs. Nellie Smith, 292 Fifteenth street, last Tuesday, and to have failed to return for it. The clue to her identity was unraveled by

BOOM STARTED FOR A JANESVILLE MAN

Edward S. Falter of Local Spanish
War Vets Talked of For State
Commander of Order.

Edward S. Falter of the Harry L.
Gifford Camp of the United Spanish War Veterans, is being boomed for department commander at the coming state encampment. James Armstrong of Milwaukee, and John S. Plant of Elgin, are also mentioned, but it is understood Falter stands a most excellent show for the election.

The annual state encampment of the department of Wisconsin, United Spanish War Veterans, is to be held at Fond du Lac on July 5, 6 and 7 and promises to be one of the most important ever held by the department. Matters to be brought up are of vital interest to the organization.
It is probable that the question of holding the encampments at the same time and in the same city as the encampments of the G. A. R. will be settled.

Delegates will be elected to the national encampment to be held at Tacoma, Wash., the first week in September. General Charles King of Milwaukee is being urged to be a candidate for commander-in-chief, but he has not yet announced his candidacy.
Should General King be a candidate
he would have the support of all delegates from the middle west and western states.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube.
When this tube is inflamed you have a running ear and imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness caused by catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, May 18, 1869.—A Warning to All Four-Legged Purps.—The editor has gone forth—and we are glad of it—for the enlightenment of all four-legged purps (the other kind is reserved for large, without a muzzle. It is high time this war on canines was inaugurated. There are something less than ten thousand good-for-nothing curs upon the streets, endangering lives, one of which is infinitely more valuable than the whole brood.

The judges gave the jury a good, strong charge, calling attention especially to the more flagrant crimes which recently have started the community.

After the Gamblers.—The officers are just now muzzling it lively for the professors of pachouard and also in this city. Several have already been arrested and the probability is that the cases will go before the Grand Jury now in session.

AN OLD SETTLER OF MAGNOLIA SUMMONED

Mrs. Cordelia Weaver Passed Away at Her Home After an Illness of but One Week.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Magnolia, May 17.—Another old settler of Magnolia has passed away. Mrs. Cordelia Weaver died at her home here after an illness of one week's duration at the age of 85 years. She was one of the oldest members of the A. C. church and a quiet, conscientious, Christian lady. To know her was to love her.
